

Becoming a Certified Information Governance Professional (IGP)

Designation Academy Seminar

Saturday, October 14, 1:00.m.- 4:30 p.m. ($299 Pro / $349)

This prep seminar offers a preview into what you'll encounter on the road to attaining the Information Governance Professional (IGP) certification. While you will not be "taught to the test," you will review the six domain areas that are on the examination, work through sample questions, and receive the IGP Certification: Study Guide and Exam Workbook, which contains valuable study techniques. This is your opportunity to learn about the qualification requirements, the registration process, and the value of having the IGP designation. Importantly, you will have ample Q-and-A time with a certified IGP as well!

Learning Objectives:

Upon completion of these seminars, participants will be able to:

1. Define the anticipated role of the IGP and the value to the organization
2. Describe the requirements and registration process to sit for the IGP certification exam
3. Identify and summarize the six domain areas in the IGP certification
4. Apply study strategies to your IGP certification prep

Skill Level: Strategic

Your registration includes:

- Attendance to Becoming a Certified Information Governance Professional (IGP) seminar
- All learning materials for the course, including presentation slides, course exercises, sample questions, and the IGP Certification: Study Guide and Exam Workbook

Facilitator's biography:

Diane Carlisle, IGP, CRM, is the information governance program advisor for ARMA International. She provides direction for the development of ARMA International's educational offerings and represents the association in various professional venues. She has more than 30 years of experience in the field of records and information management and has worked for organizations in a variety of industries. Carlisle is a past winner of the Distinguished Service Award and has won a Britt Literary Award with a co-author.

Here's what others have to say about this certification prep program:

"Process discussion was important; implementation is crucial; very well presented."

"Excellent presentation. Very knowledgeable presenter and the information was spot on!"

"Really good real-world examples from the presenter."

"With professionalism and grace, addressed questions, maintained focus, created inclusive and informative environment."

